

re:build

I sent you a brick.

Strange, I know.

I wanted to get your attention and hitting you over the head with it seemed a little extreme. Consider it my resume. You have it, because I want you to reimagine the foundation of your business with the brick I can add. I have a history of rebuilding:

- Businesses
- Brands
- Bottom lines

This is not to say your business is broken. In this case I want to reinforce the strategic direction and possibly renew the excitement with a fresh perspective.

I invite you to rethink marketing. I approach the marketing relationship from a holistic perspective. I retrain clients to look beyond driving traffic from point A to point B. I get them to refocus on the interactions also occurring from point B to point C and reassess the role of internal branding. This leads to a reallocation of the overall budget to increase the financial commitment to marketing...generating revenue brick, by brick, by brick.

I sent you a brick to get your attention.

I want to help you get results.

re:focus

You can review my online resume via the QR code and/or link to the left.

I offer the following:

- relationships developed
- results achieved
- revenue generated

re.vu/TravisSheridan

re:view